

Matt Greif
Senior Systems Engineer/HCS of CT.

Matt comes from a long background of personal IT support, he brings his personable experiences to the professional realm.

He graduated from The University at Albany where he received his B.A. in Documentary Studies, where he studied film and production. Since working at NBC Sports shortly after his graduation, he has taken all of his skills acquired over the years and has molded them together to become a well rounded consultant.

Involved in both the personal and professional aspects of HCS cliental, Matt provides each and every one with a unique and customized experience to help fit their needs. Allowing the customer to take full advantage of the technology available to them, to provide them with the best results possible.

Certifications

- Apple Certified Technical Coordinator
- Apple Certified Support Professional

Professional Associations

- Apple Consultants Network

Education

University at Albany - Albany, NY
Class of 2012